Premier Castro may well feel that he is in a position to adopt a more truculent attitude toward his big neighbor, adding actions to frequently provocative words. He has apparently resolved his ideological dilemma—whether to dwell in the Moscow camp or follow the Peking trail. Only a few days ago he re-turned from a visit to Russia on the heels of a statement which showed that he had come out in favor of the Moscow line and was henceforth to be numbered among Mr. Khrushchev's friends and adherents. When the pressure at home becomes too intense, Premier Castro can always pluck another feather from the eagle's tail. That would seem to be all that the Guantanamo gesture implies. But the eagle's resulting scream may reawaken American animosities which had become dormant in the face of Viet Nam and other problems. Fidel Castro would be particularly unwise to stir things up during a U.S. elecfion year—when tempers, public attitudes and possible retaliations can be all the more pointed.

Masterly Diefenbaker Performance

MR. DIEFENBAKER'S speech on Tuesday was a masterly political performance capping a clever campaign of manoeuvre against the Conservative rebels. It was the address of a man who, better than any, of his contemporaries, understands the rank and file of his party and knows how to play on every emotion that stirs a Conservative convention, It added little to the current discussion of Cana-

Western

That was not its purpose. It did not, and probably could not, heal the breach in the Conservative party but it helped greatly to fashion a victory solid enoughto guarantee Mr. Diefenbaker against a serious challenge for some time to come; as a spirited attack on the political foe, Mr. Diefenbaker provided it, tearing into the Liberal record, jibing and stabbing at all and sundry in the Liberal cabinet. It was a scattergun attack; at no point did he bother to document his charges although he kept interjecting, rather unnecessarily, "I don't know why I'm prov-ing this to you." What it proved was that Mr. Diefenbaker remains a formidable campaigner who can certainly stir the martial emotions of good party work-

Bleak Memories

The Conservative party has bleak ries of long years in the wilderness. Mr. Diefenbaker did not fail to remind the meeting of the bad old days from which also has serious apprehensions of another against the party leader. long spell in opposition. Mr. Diefenbaker MR. On the issues of Confederation, he recer to deal with Mr. Caouette's separatist amendment. This presumably entitles Mr. Diefenbaker to at least a half share in Mr. Balcer's halo.

But the Conservative leader's shrewdest stroke came at the end of his address. There had been a great fuss over the issue of open or secret voting on the lead-ership resolution. After employing the verb "stand" on every possible occasion earlier in his speech, Mr. Diefenbaker remarked disarmingly that he would not wish anyone to go away thinking that a secret vote would have meant a different

"If you decide on a secret vote," he said, "that's fine with me." He added, possibly to drive home the point: "I want to know where I stand and I want to

Rebel Blunder

It rapidly became clear that the rebels had blundered badly by making the method of voting the issue. They made a persuasive argument as speaker after speaker came to the microphone to praise the democracy of the secret ballot. But they had also to convince the convention that their motives were pure and their thoughts only on the unity of the party. baker himself had voiced no preference and it could not be alleged therefore that he had delivered them in 1957. The party a vote for the secret ballot was a vote

Their difficulty became apparent when reassured delegates by comparing the par-tic convention decided by perhaps three liamentary strength of the Conservatives to one to stand and be counted on the 1945, 1949 and 1953.

He emphasized the point in his best folksy style with a story about a colored preacher who told his congregation: "We ain't what we should be; we ain't what we could be: we ain't what we're going to be; but, thank God, we ain't what we used to be."

He also kindled hopes of the future: Then the resolution. Flaving exaited the to the end, warned that an open vote would be interpreted as evidence of fear rebels could make no fight on the resolution or the resolution of confidence in Mr. Diefenbaker to divisions in the party. Two moves followed in quick succession. The previous question was moved and carried before the rebels had a chance to reform their ranks.

He also kindled hopes of the future: Then the resolution went through, with

It was an increbible anti-climax. De nomic expansion and one Canada. On spite all the plottings, the negotiations, the economic side, Mr. Diefenbaker came the caucuses and marshallings of forces down for virtuously rigid economies and that had gone on since the Conservatives reduced expenditure but more vigorously converged on the Chateau Laurier, not one rebel even succeeded in challenging Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership on the convention floor.

The probability is that the vote for a secret ballot approximately measured the strength of the opposition. But the out-manoeuvred rebels are in no position to make such a claim because they took Mr. Diefenbaker's bait and made his profes-sion of indifference an argument for the cedure which they favored.

Prepared Well

Mr. Diefenbaker had prepared well for his ordeal by annual recting. He had been busy about the country. He had visited Toronto and his supporters on Tuesday were well supplied with free copies of Monday's Toronto Telegram containing an editorial urging delegates to rally round the chief. little to chance.

The fact remains, however, that the convention and Tuesday's camouflaged debate on the leadership have left some deep scars. Although the issue allegedly was one of procedure, the debate was bitter enough to recall last year's quarrel over nuclear defence. Arthur Smith, for-mer member for Calgary South, predicted at one point that the stand and be forces would "split the party wide open.

WASHINGTON:

Polish Freeze

By MAX FREEDMAN

TT IS still too early to judge the success of the disarmament conference in Geneva. Both sides have yet to show their full hand. Pres ent omens suggest that some progress may be made but only after weeks of hard bargaining. During this waiting period, a proposal by Poland, not yet submitted to the experts at Geneva, has already aroused considerable interest in various capitals, including Washington and London. The Polish plan was first outlined on Dec. 28, 1963, by Mr. Władysław Gomulka, Communist party leader, who submitted a five-point program of which the first point attracted the greatest attention. That point calls for the freezing of nuclear arms in Central Europe.

The new proposal is different from the plan of Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki which Poland submitted in 1957 and which it later twice amended. The 1957 plan would have removed all nuclear arms from Central Europe. By contrast, the new plan merely freezes nuclear arms at their present levels in that area

Poland deserves credit for the way it has brought its idea to world atten-tion. It has avoided anything which bears even a remote resemblance to a propaganda campaign. It has invited Western governments to make suggestions that will improve the plan. Poland does not intend to submit its proposal to the Geneva Conference until it is assured that it has a generous measure of support. This highly responsible conduct explains the cordial welcome which the plan has received, even while Western diplomats are studying the proposal with caution and with no com-

Thinking for Itself

It can be assumed of course that Poland would never have advanced this proposal without the knowledge and approval of Russia. But in this matter Mr. Gomulka is not the agent of Mr. Khrushchev. Poland has its own tradition on disarmament, and its latest proposal confirms its willingness to think for itself about European security.

The starting point for Poland is the resolution already passed by the United Nations in favor of general disarma-ment. But total disarmament must await some vague date in the distant future. All the same, the value of every proposal must be measured by the conution which it makes to this ultimate goal. Poland believes that its planmarks a modest but significant advance on the road to peace.

It also hopes that its proposal will be judged by itself without reference to side issues or old prejudices. For example, the plan is not being put forward as an alternative to the multi-lateral nuclear force for NATO now being sponsored by the United States. Nor is it intended to delay or quicken the process of German unity. The proposal is defended as a logical sequel to the test ban treaty, and should be judged by its ability to contribute to the "dialogue of peace" between Washington and Moscow.

In their first reactions to the proposal, American officials have been content to ask a few sceptical questions. They want to know exactly what Poland means by Central Europe. On this Poland is ready to give a answer. The freezing of nuclear arms and the prohibition of new bases would cover the area occupied by West Germany, East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The eastern territory is more than twice as large as West Germany. Other countries would be invited to join. Several countries in eastern Europe and the Scandinavian countries would probably ask to take part if the Polish plan, . or a modification of it, is deemed useful to peace.

Then American officials seek information on the effect of the plan on the balance of power in Europe. The Polish reply is that the plan will have no effect at all on the existing balance. The entire movement toward a truce in the cold war rests on the assumption, accepted in Moscow as in Washington, that a rough balance now exists in Europe, The Polish project would per-petuate that balance by freezing the present levels of nuclear strength.

The next question concerns the problem of control and inspection. How can we be sure that Central Europe will in fact have no new nuclear weapons? Poland's answer is that it is much easier to enforce a freeze than it is to supervise any other system of agreed dis-armament. It adds that it is easier to Feb. 7, 1904-Balmake certain that no new weapons are timore: A terrific brought into Central Europe than it is to negotiate a complicated agreement con flagration has on delivery systems as now proposed wiped out most of by the United States.

Sometimes it is said that America city's business and wants control without disarmament and fin ancial district. Russia wants disarmament without control. Poland has suggested a system ed at $200,000,000. of control over armaments by a freeze of new weapons. On deeper study. Feb. 7, 1924—B.C. proposal may be seen to contain hidden business continued dangers that outweigh its apparent to expand this week with the incorporation of the plan, seriously conceived in the interests of peace, deserves careful and constructive examina tion by Western statesmen.

If the majority of the people of Quebec ever become convinced that separatism is the right thing, they willprobably not need recourse to arms in order to leave Confederation. Our English-speaking partners will not hang on to us in spite of ourselves.

Humble Tribute

I wish to pay my humble tribute to that kindly, modest lady, Miss Madge Randall. She was superintendent of the Beginners' Department of St. John's Sunday School for many years—it was a joy to see her with the little ones she loved.

Miss Randall was a life member of the Diocesan Board of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Anglicap Church, a well-deserved honor, and foundress of the St. John's Evening Branch of the W.A. She was able to attend the 25th anniversary of this group, and all members have happy memories of her cheery spirit in sipte of current illness.

The reaction of certain businessmen to the work of Le Conseil d'expansion economique seems strange. One has the impression that certain financiers cannot conceive of any system in Canada other than Quebec's economic enslavement by the omnipotence of Toronto. How else does one explain the protests and threats offered following Quebec's decision to encourage our own firms in preference to those from outside?

Col. Sarto Marchand, president of Le Conseil d'expansion economique, was certainly clear. He stated that his organization was not pursuing any negative goal, rather it seeks only to increase the

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

During the Tory convention, Donald Mac-Donald, the New Democrat leader in Ontario, made some remarks to me about the Con-servative party which are relevent to an appreciation of our political parties.

Many New Democratis are shying like wild horses from bruits of Liberal-NDP conversations (?) co-operation (?) coalescence (?). Some of this shock has led to righteous braying of the New Democrat creed. Other loyalists are prepared to sniff out and drive off from the band any outlaw

Square-Shooting

Mr. MacDonald put some focus into the matter for me by acknowledging the Toronto Star syndrome which exists among Ontario New Democrats. Despite its equivocal, treacherous and predictable treatment of their party, the Star has convinced many New Democrats that it is "liberal" in its political attitudes and that there is a "liberal" strain or force at work in "the Liberal party."
Therefore, the Liberal party is close to the New Democrats while far beyond both, on the right, is the Tory party, somewhat (as it's been put) admiring of radicals a century after they're dead.

This is not the way Mr. MacDonald has found the real situation. "In fact," he said, "in my experience in Ontario there are more progressive people among the PCs than among the Grits. Sure you can find the mossbacks like Hotlis Beckett, but a number of the younger Conservatives are advocates change. Repeatedly, in committees and the Legislative Assembly I have found them more constructive, less bitter and more fair than the Liberals. To Mr. MacDonald, there isn't any question that the party has a higher proportion of gentlemanly square-shooting people than

Cold, Hard Look

Now Mr. MacDonald's experience is stred on Toronto and Ontario, mine on Ottawa, but our conclusions are not unalike. Aside from the odd doubts of someone like ex-Senator Henri Courtemanche, no one has found or even suspects any administrative dishonesty and corruption during the Diefen-haker years. I seem to remember Alvin Hamilton repeating the old saw: "We're too stupid to be dishonest." He meant it ironically. In truth, Mr. Hamilton was not stupid, only direct and frank. In addition, he had a few colleagues who were more radical in policy than anyone I can spot in the Liberal Cabinet; the majority of Tory MPs were intensely sincere.

You set off on a circular, chase-your-tail, round when you try to define the shades of left and right. But I would place the Conservative government, as would Donald Mac-Donald, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. that would have the Liberal government in the

The hardest policy decision of the federal Conservatives, now in opposition, is whether to shift right. This is what George Hogan and the morning Toronto paper wish. It has the appeal of a century's development behind it, leading to the deification today of the businessman. "The cold, hard look" of efficiency, the clear belief that government organization is inherently given to ineff. organization is inherently given to inefficiency and waste, that a private organization is inherently sound and saving, particularly on taxes. It believes that the welfare state has gone too far for our economic strength, that its costs are killing the dynamic energy of our resourceful business class.

These views are dearly cherished by businen and can form the core of a party, much like the Republicans in the U.S.A. The appeal in rural Canada is not so apparent. Mr. Hogan would blend with it some Disraeliromantic conservatism wherein the affluent, responsible and gentlemanly look after the unfortunate or the deserving poor. Charitableness and the present welfare arrangement would be adequate for our social problems until the dynamic qualities re-leased by a moratorium, even a cut back, in taxes, would get us growing. The working force would have some discipline of competition and begin to turn away from the spine-

Political Clock

It sounds wonderful to businessmen of all kinds, particularly those without much edu-cation. It can have a historical attraction to the rural folk, calling back the virtues of the Canadian pioneers, who, so it goes, cared no hing for government handouts or leader-ship. Its historical inaccuracy is easily argued, but it has the validity of nostalgia; that once upon a time our forefathers were sterner, more independent people than we

A cluster of very Young Tories, including Michael Meighen, Peter White, and Brian Multoney—all from Quebec—are the bright-est people I've met in the Conservative party. In essence, they wish a party of intense moral integrity dedicated to honest government carrying out thorough, articulated programs of a practical kind. But they are very young, so is Mr. Hogan (relatively).
This Tory convention will give them enough recognition to call a "thinker's con-ference." There the dilemma of the Conservatives' place in the political clock will get the kind of argument which the convention canno. or will not accord it because of all the buzzing on the leadership. The results could be surprising because the very dearth of past production in political philosophy has left th. Conservatives somewhat more free from old documents than the other parties. If anything Mr. Diefenbaker accentuated this be-cause he has had a stand at some time almost everywhere on the political circle and his stories have not been collated in a coherent Tory position.

That would be impossible.

OMBUDSMAN PROPOSED

REGINA (CP) -

REGINA (CP) — Action to spur the provincial economy was proposed in the speech from the throne read Thursday at the opening of the Saskatchewan legislature.

The speech said new and expanded programs would be aimed at sparking agricultural, industrial and natural resources development. It said other legislations would be proposed dealing with hospital privileges, separate high schools, interest rates on credit and loans, land expropriation and teacher training.

The logs are the provincial economy was proposed in the government under the party. The amendment seems to make any organized opposition on the few remaining pockets of opposition. SYNOPSIS - Clear skies dominated most of the interior of B.C. Thursday night and as a result temperatures dropped sharply at several points. Readings were lowest in the Koote-nays with Kimberley reporting a temperature of 6 above at 5 a.m. With the exception of the north coast most of the province will again experi-ence some sunshine today. Clouds which formed over south coastal waters overnight and spilled onto the adjacent shores are expected to dissipate during the morning. A new Pacific storm which brought rain and gales to northern waters this morning will weaken but may produce a few snowflurries as it moves across the northern interior in the afternoon.

Joker in Contract For Westcoast Gas

B.C. Hydro is paying considerably more for Frank McMahon's natural gas than the Americans do, an Opposition MLA charged Thursday.

That is why the government is keeping the actual price a secret, Alex Macdonald (NDP Vancouver East) told the Earlier in the House, Oppo-sition Leader Robert Strachan had charged Mr. McMahon's company, Westcoast Transmis-sion, had been given the contract by publicly-owned Hydro as an election payoff.

Mines Minister Kenneth Klernan denied it, and said the contract will be worth about $9,000,000 but didn't say how much gas was involved. Mr. Macdonald suggested the price is actually about 32 cents per thousand cubic feet. This is 10 cents more than the Americans pay for West-coast gas delivered to the bor-der, Mr. Macdonald said.

OLD STORY

of the old story where the re-sources of B.C. are put over the line and the Americans get them cheaper than we get them ourselves." Mr. Macdon-

Westcoast Transmission, Mr. Macdonald said, is really controlled by its giant customer in the U.S., El Paso Natural Gas, which does not have the interests of the people of B.C.

B.C. is a turkey, and they're selling off the parts," he said.
"Somebody gets a wing; somebody else gets a leg and the people end up getting the neck getting it in the neck at least."

NO JURISDICTION

The Hydro gas contract was given to a federally-incorporated company (Westcoast) over which B.C. has no jurisdiction, to assist it in building a 250-mile pipeline extension to Fort Nelson, Mr. Macdonald

The pipeline is all in B.C., so the government should have insisted that a new provincial company be formed as a sub-sidiary to Westcoast to build it, he said.

Why does the province go out of its way to divert itself of jurisdiction? I think the wer is there is a joker in this contract. The joker: the price paid for the gas.

COUNCIL BALKS

'Hands Off' Striking Yard Unions

City council Thursday re-knuckies for striking.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, supported by Ald. M. H. Mooney and Mayor R. B. Wilson on a vote, urged council to send a formal protest to the strikers He said the workers walked out at "a particularly -untimely" stage, in view of current and city council and Chamber of Commerce efforts to win more federal contracts for local shipyards.

Majority of council, however sided with Ald. A. W. Toone who said a formal council pro test would be interference with legal and traditional bargain ing procedures. He claimed Victoria shipyard workers are the most productive in the world so highere wages would not deter further contracts.

Aldermen formally approved working drawings for the senfor citizens recreational centre toria Centennial Square and applied to the provincial gov ernment for a one-third grant towards its construction.

Approval for expenditure of up to $2,000 was given to crect 469 hanging flower baskets filled with daffodils next

Small Boosts For Councils

Premier Bennett today said provincial assistance to municipal governments year will total $143,-569,000

The total was only slightly better than 5 per cent more than the $135,637,000 proposed in his 1963 budget speech.
But Mr. Bennett made no comparisons between this year's proposals and last year's expenditures in the various categories of municipal aid. All his comparisons were between 1952 and this year.

HIGHWAY GRANTS

Relatively small increases are forecast in government assistance to municipalities for schools, social assistance, hos-pital construction, winter works projects, senior citizens' homes and recreational centres.

But grants for highway pur-poses within municipalities will drop from a total of $8,250,000 in the 1963 budget to $5,525,000 in the coming fiscal year.

Provincial assistance to mu nicipalities and their residents has increased 207 per cent from 1951-52, well in excess of the growth in provincial rev-enues of 175 per cent," the premier said today,

UNDER REVIEW

"The financial need of local government is under constant review by the province and $7,932,000 more will be paid to muncipilities or their agencies in 1964-65 than in the cur rent year.

Premier Bennett also claim ed that assistance to municipalities rose from $51.58 per capita in 1951-52 to $100.12 per capita in 1964-65.

Following are the forecast payments to municipalities in the coming fiscal year com-

Clamp Death Not Reported By Hospital

TORONTO (CP) - Attorney General Fred Cass indicated Thursday the East General Hospital should have told a coroner that Patricia Morgan died Nov. 18 with a surgical clamp in her abdomen.

He told a press conference hospitals should report all unusual deaths to a coroner who must decide whether an inquest is necessary.

"That's what the law says, but it has not been the practise," he said.

The East-General did not report the circumstances of Miss Morgan's death. They were brought to the attention of Mr. Cass by Dr. Morton Shulman, chief coroner of Ontario, and an inquest was ordered. The hearing date has not been set. Coroner Dr. Gerald Blanchet, ordered by Mr. Cass to hold the inquest, said Wednesday Metropolitan Toronto homicide police are gathering evidence for the hearing. He said police were called in because of their interview methods. It did not suggest foul play.

CONSOLIDATE ALL YOUR DERTS INTO ONE EASY PAYMENT It's amazing how combining your debts can end the fret of meeting monthly payments. Instead of various debts and deadlines, suddenly it's only one payment you have to meet. Taking out a second mortgage on your home-repayable over any period up to 12 years at C.A.C. Realty Limited—can make all this possible

But that's only one reason for taking out a second mortgage. You may need cash quickly to meet sudden expenses. You may want to sell your present home and be unable to find a buyer with a big enough down payment. Or you may have already sold your home and find yourself holding a second mortgage when you would very much rather have cash. In all these cases you can get prompt and effective help from C.A.C. Realty Limited.

The question we're most often asked is: "How much can I borrow?" There is nothing hard and fast about it, but normally you can borrow any amount up to 80% of valuation. There are no exorbitant appraisal fees or registrations and no hidden charges whatever.

To take away another worry, C.A.C. Realty Limited can arrange insurance for the full amount of the mortgage. And when your final payment is made your debt is completely cleared-your mortgage will be paid

If you would like to combine your debts in a single worry-free loan, or discuss a second mortgage for any other reason, contact your nearest C.A.C. Realty Limited office today where service with courtesy is our business. FREE BROCHURE. For all the facts on sarcophagus. Archeologists re-moved the cover and beheld the features of a female.

The find was carefully trans-ferred to the Rome eity morgue, where Prof. Cesare Gerin cut out tiny pieces of the dried skin and nearly-petrified flesh for analysis.

Gerin also hoped to learn something about the embalming substances,

Adorning the body were a necklace of blue and black stenes, two golden earrings and e gold ring with a finely worked engraving.

Dr. Catia Caprino of the go ernment Institute of Antiquities and Fine Arts said the girl's hair was black and had been waved. The long, thin hands still had perfectly preserved fingernalls, she said. The mummy was wrapped in cloth embroidered with gold threads.

Consider Meteor's low price ... then you'll see how Meteor's extra length and width give you ride and performance that heats all cars in its class.

See it? That's pure, bigload-carrying space! Even with an 8' toboggan in it you've still got room to close the tailgate. Even with six big passengers," you've still got whopping huge cargo room. But a Meteor Station Wagon gives you more than merely big load space-it gives you an elegant car with the interior luxuries enjoyed in sedans.

And big means more than just space and room. It means easier handling at highway speed and surer control on corners. Why? Because Meteor's big 80" width provides wider stance which means more stability.

Big length means a better ride, too. It stands to reason - Meteor's big 120" wheelbase straddles bumps and checks dip and dive.

Don't look now, but you're already moving! It's Meteor's Cushion Link Suspension that makes for such smooth riding. This suspension is exclusive to Meteor in its class-lets wheels move backward and forward as well as up and down. This not only absorbs shock beneath the wheel-it also absorbs shock in front of the wheel, like a boxer rolling with the punch.

Why are so many people buying Meteor? Because Meteor gives you so many extras for a lowpriced car. Test-drive it at your Mercury dealer's.

And Chief Gregory says he will ask for even more money to equip the crime lab when Victoria's police station is renovated and extended later this year.

When the new tools are sup-plied, it will be men like Det. Bath and Constable (acting sergeant) John Maybin, his colleague on this course, who will use them.

They, along with Oak Bay Constables Dick Lopeter and Bill Moyes and Esquimalt Constables Frank Bell and Rick McVle, have been learning for the past two weeks how to combat crime through closer co-operation between police departments and scientific methods.

Hundreds of young girls shouted and sobbed and a rain of love letters, badges, photographs and tokens showered down from the public galleries as the Beatles Pelice took a firm hand from the start, shepherding all teen-agers up to the public watching galleries.

But once the Beatles arrived the screaming started.
Girls jumped up and down. hysterically shrieking and reying until the airliner took

Then the din suddenly died and a strange silence fell on the airport as the girls, many twisting handkerchiefs, in their hands in anguishtrooped off-home.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY I am indebted to William Wallace Gill of Hempstead, N.Y., for today's hand. He writes, "Do you believe that erations, concrete, carpetity and you and P. Hal Sims could have made a top score with sawer work. Phone 384-5121.

this hand?"

The question is a little hard to answer because, if I held the ↑ A 108753 ♥ Q7654 SOUTH (D)

South cards there is no certainty where we would land in the bidding. With Hal holding the South cards, the bidding would be as shown in the box. Hal disdained point-count and scientific bidding, but he loved to play no-trump contracts and, when he was in his prime, he played them

OWN AND COUNTRY-Lovely 2-bedroom bungalow, full basement, oil furnace, landscaped. Price $10,900.

One of the strongest portrayals of Abraham Lincoln to show on stage, screen or television was achieved in the Hall of Fame's "Abe Lincoln in Il-hinois" Wednesday, It was a 90-minute adaptation of the famous 1939 play by dramatist Robert E. Sherwood.

Jason Robards Jr. gave the role of Lincoln a far different interpre-tation than that associated with the part created by Raymond Massey, Gillespie of the Kildare series. Robards lent it a mystical, humorous and human quality which has in the past been denied it by other actors. The author's words Stephen were delivered in the manner, which it was felt, the author had intended them to be spoken.

The drama, parceled out in episodes, araced Lincoln from his early years as postman, to the state assembly, to a life as lawyer and to the

Toronto actress Kate Reid gave a competent and strong acting assist with her interpretation of the strong minded and ambitious Mary Todd Miss Reid helped carry across the strong essence of the drama but it was Robards who was the centre-piece. He scored in lending the part the towering loneliness of a man who is pre-destined to play such an important part in history. The ec tricity and the stubborness of the man was also evident in his interpretation.

The Hall of Fame series continually offers strong dramatic fare. Most networks are dropping their serious works to make way for the meaningless. Let's hope someone up there realizes the importance of good drama on television and does nothing to disturb the trend established by the Fame plays.

If you never get scared . . . be a Mountie. If you're always prepared . . . be a Mountie," sang Danny Kaye and his scarlet-coated, sugarthroated, right out of Gilbert and Sullivan's Pirates of Penzance, male ensemble.

Maybe the straight-laced members of the RCMP would find it unfunny, but viewers surely rolled off their chesterfields at the good, clean humor of the skit on the comedian's show.

Kaye, as Sgt. Clyde Pinking-Shears, and Imogene Coco, as the Indian maid who is really dirty Pierre but is called by her nickname-"Nick" gently spoofed the famed force in a hilarious 20

The sketch was sprinkled with such lines as:

"The Mountie is a very high type person. He works seven days a week, buys his own uniform and gets an annual holiday every June 29th. That's Nelson Eddy's birthday. "If you're loyal and bold . . . be a Mountie

If you don't mind the cold . . . be a Mountie." It was delicious fun in the Spring Thaw vein and another in the noteworthy comedy sketches fast becoming highlights of the variety show.

A-G to Give Keynote Talk At Seminar

Attorney General Robert Bonner, a director of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, will be keynote speaker at a human relations brotherhood seminar to be held on the Gordon Head campus of the University of Victoria Satur-day, Feb. 22 from 1 to 5 p.m.

The seminar will mark the close of Brotherhood Week which begins Sunday, Feb. 15. It is sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews and the Alumni Associa-tion of the University of Victoria. It will take place in the faculty building on the Gordon Head campus.

Most Rev. Remi de Roo, Roman Catholic Bishop of Vic-toria, has been invited to participate.

PANEL TALKS

Panels will be addressed by Dr. W. H. Gaddes and Dr. Roy E. Watson of the University of Victoria.

"The seminar is open to students, fraternal organizations and all interested persons," said J. Russell Dudley, executive director of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, visiting here from his office in Vancouver.

Mr. Dudley said the council was founded in Canada in 1947 by a group of business executives, jurists, educators and clergy. Its aim is to bring together delegates from all ethnic, cultural, racial and religious backgrounds to concentrate on human relations problems encountered in daily living.

Home Bars Tempting Youngsters to Drink

B.C. homes should be purged of home-made bars that contribute to juvenile delinquency, a new Social Credit MLA said Wednesday.

The Legislature got a lecture on the evils of drinking from Charles MacSoriey (SC-Burnaby), in his maiden speech,

He said many better-class homes have a bigger stock of liquor than old-time bars.

They should be cleared out so that children would not find it so easy to get liquor, he said.

He said he had seen many young people charged before the courts because they had been drinking.

"They are from the better homes in our city," he declared.

Mr. MacSoriey also proposed that people who serve drinks, not people who drink them, should be charged when their customers get into trouble. He said there should be a tighter observance of laws sprohibiting service to minors in liquor stores.

"Of all the social evils I have come across in my time I think liquor has been responsible for most of them," his MacSorley said.

Now the long roll-call of the ridings is complete from Atlin to the Kootenays, Alberni to Fernie, and like any housewife with note pad and pencil, the legisla-ture settles down to its budget.

This is the middle phase of parliament's three. First came throne speech and plies thereto, which ended Thursday afternoon.

Monday through Friday for the next three weeks or so, the budget which Pre-mier Bennett brought down today will be haifed with rapture by government members on the right side of the House, and dissected by their NDP and Liberal

I'm not sure, either, that on the weather side of the House, a heart or two hasn't broken. A certain fire is missing; we aren't getting the wild and wonderful CCF dialectic that once gingered debate in this ugust chamber.

The man who more than any other hammered the fatcat able but miseast Lands, Forests and Water Resources Minister Ray Williston, who on Thursday finished off the Thursday finished off the throne debate with a nail-driv-

Small Boosts For Councils

Premier Bennett today said provincial assistance to municipal governments this year will total $143,-

The total was only slightly better than 5 per cent more than the $135,637,000 proposed in his 1963 budget speech.

But Mr. Bennett made no com parisons between this year's pro posais and last year's expe ures in the various categories of municipal aid. All his co isons were between 1952 and this year.

HIGHWAY GRANTS

Relatively small increases are ance to municipalities for sehools, social assistance, hos-pital construction, winter works and recreational centres

But grants for highway pur poses within municipalities will drop from a total of $8,250,000 in the 1963 budget to $5,525,000 in coming fiscal year.

Provincial assistance to mu nicipalities and their residents has increased 207 per cent from 1951-52, well in excess of the growth in provincial rev-enues of 175 per cent," the premier said today.

UNDER REVIEW

"The financial need of local government is under constant review by the province and $7,932,000 more will be paid to municipilities or their agen. TOLL BRIDGES GO cies in 1964-65 than in the cur rent year."

Premier Bennett also claim ed that assistance to municipalities rose from $51.58 per capitar in 1951-52 to $100.12 per capita in 1964-65.

Are School Board Ballots Worth the Time, Expense?

Retired naval officer Leslie Karagianis was elected as school trustee for Esquimalt Thursday.

But most of the municipal voters didn't seem to care who won. Only 346 of the 4,085 eligible voters went to the

-an 8.5 per cent turnout. Mr. Karagianis was elected by 193 voters, edging out Peter S. Bray who received 152 votes-a margin of 41. One ballot was spoiled.

The new trustee will represent the parents of almost 2,800 pupils in Esquimalt and will share in planning a roughly $10 million budget this year.

In view of this, Mr. Karagianis and other Esquimait sidents expressed disappointment today at the small vote. He said he was grateful for the results and thanked his supporters, but added, "I am at a loss to understand why more people don't vote. These elections have a direct result on property taxes." Perhaps voters were recognizing that both candidates offered the same platform—"if there had been a burning controversy, perhaps things would have been different,"

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele said he was disappointed at the voter turnout. He and his wife had cut short a Los Angeles visit so they could return and vote, he said. He wondered if the time, expense and effort of school board elections should be dispensed with and an appointent to the school made from council. At present council must approve whatever budget the board brings down and has no con-

The provincial government will have ef-ive control of the new Bank of B.C. with a board announcement gave fective control of the new Bank of B.C. with up to 25 per cent of its shares, Premier no details. W. A. C. Bennett's new budget disclosed Denis Appointed today.

The budget, presented to the legislature this afternoon, provides record government spending of $395,-593,000 for the new financial year which starts April 1. It is an increase of $22,888,000 from last year's Education gets the biggest single share - $105, 870,000.

There were no surprises, no tax cuts, no increases, Mr. Bennett was to introduce legislation after the budget authorizing purchase of up to one-quarter of the paid-up share capital in the new chartered bank.

He told reporters no single interest holds as great a share any existing Canadian bank.

The cash value will not be known until an application is made to Canada's Parliament for a charter, he said.

He said this petition is being "thought out" now, but would not disclose the name of anyone involved. He did admit, however, the bank is his own idea.

Still Chance For Gold Meda

INNSBRUCK, Austria (CP) scoring three times in the third period after injured goalie Seth Martin was replaced, beat Canada 3-1 to-night to put a big crimp in Canada's gold medal chances in the Olympic hockey championships.

It was the first loss in six starts for the Canadians, who now trail the Soviet Union by two points after six rounds in the seven-game round - robin tournament. The Soviets, who meet the young Canadian team Saturday a few hours before the Czechs tackle Sweden, beat Sweden 4-2 earlier today for their sixthstraight win and now are even more heavily-favored than ever to win the title.

Canada can still win it by beating the Russians Saturday, but only if Sweden beats the Czechoslovakia moved into second-place tie with Canada with the victory, which came after the Canadians had led 1-0 in the second period. All three Czech goals were scored against Ken Broderick, the 21-year-old Toronto netmin-der who replaced Martin with
